The December meeting of the Champion W.I. held at Mrs. Farmer's was a very pleasant event. Singing Christmas Carols, exchanging Christmas gifts and enjoying the delicious refreshments served by Mesdames Ditt and Dawson were the treats of the day. Annual election of officers was the main business.

The election resulted as follows: President—Mrs. Beaudier. 1st Vice Pres.—Mrs. R.I. Baker. 2nd Vice Pres.—Mrs. Vaisey. Secretary—Mrs. Alexander. Treasurer—Mrs. Dawson.

Directors—Mrs. Watkins, Mrs. Farmer, Mrs. Farley. Chairman of Child Welfare and Public Health—Mrs. Baker. Canidization—Mrs. Bastin. Education and Better Schools—Mrs. Vaisey.

Legislation—Mrs. Dawson. Household Economics—Mrs. Watkins. International Relations—Mrs. Farley.

Handicrafts—Mrs. Clever. Canadian Industries and Agriculture—Mrs. Bond.

The following is the Annual Report of our activities for the previous year. At the ten meetings held this year, 1936, we have had ten grand programs, each seeming a little better than the last.

One address by a nurse who was decorated for her services in the Great War by our late King George, one by a Lady M.L.A., another by our Constituency Councillor, one by a clever banker, one by the Chairman of International Relations, one by a former Provincial President, a guest talk on Household Economics by our Chairman of that Committee, and a particularly good lecture on the Value of Education by the Chair woman of Canidization.

At our October meeting we went to the International room of the Public School where we had our eyes opened to the value of the new Enterprise of Education.

On Handicrafts Day we had a good exhibition of beautiful handwork, old and new.

Our good deeds for the year included a large amount of sewing for the local hospital, a grandmother's farewell party and gift for Mrs. Johansen, a gift for Mrs. Moffat, a substantial sum of money to Nelia McLeod for her course in art at Banff, a donation to a family when the mother was ill and two silver cups to the High School athletes.

We planned a flower show, but the grasshoppers ate the flowers. Delegates were sent to the conventions. We tried to get all the short courses offered early in the year but it seems that there was no money to send them here.

We raised about $21 with tea collections and member's fees and were using being continually hounded to make money. Our Society is above social things.

Current events were reviewed periodically and we had a grand tea party every time.

Respectfully submitted,
Maudie Alexander.

At Miller met with a serious accident on Friday when the car he was driving crashed with another car at the summit of Thigh Hill. Mr. Miller was returning from the Sandj it school and had as passengers Miss Ivah Miller and three little girls. Mr. Miller received a broken arm and severe bruises to the body. Miss Miller suffered from shock and had cuts to the face and neck. The little girls were uninjured. All were taken to the Yucana hospital for treatment. The cars were seriously damaged.

According to authority this is the thirty seventh accident that has occurred on this hill within the last few years. It would seem that some precaution ought to be taken to prevent any further accidents.

The funeral was held Wednesday at the English church, Camanagay of Mrs. C. M. Shaw, an old timer of the district. A large gathering attended to bid farewell to a well respected citizen. Rev. T. B. Winter, assisted by Rev. Smith of Lethbridge conducted the service.

Hold Memorial Service

The Memorial service of the O.O.R.P. held in the United church on Sunday evening, December 6th was in charge of Rev. Peter Dawson. The impressive service was greatly enjoyed and appreciated by all present.

Very pleasing solos were rendered by Joe McNaughton and Mrs. C. McLean, accompanied by Mrs. Ted Carlson. A beautiful bouquet of large native Chrysanthemums was a tribute to the memory of the departed members.

The lodge wishes to thank Mr. Dawson for his kind services, also the choir, as well as Mr. McNaughton and Mrs. McLean for their musical selections, and all who attended to help make this occasion the success it was.

The annual Ladies' Aid bazaar was held in the Community hall on Saturday afternoon in spite of the stormy weather, a goodly number patronized it and a nice sum was realized from the sale of fancy work, aprons, home produce, candy and refreshments. Mrs. Ulrich was in charge of the Fancy Work which included a bedspread donated by the T. Eaton Co and embroidered by Mrs. Beaudier. The ever popular Apron booth was handled by Mrs. Latiff and Mrs. Caldwell. The "Post Office," where over one hundred parcels donated by friends all over the

What Life Insurance Means to the Women and Children of Canada

TO thousands of Canadian families, Life Insurance means financial security against the uncertainties of the future.

To each family deprived of its breadwinner, Life Insurance means food, clothing, shelter and other necessities of life.

It means ready cash to meet pressing obligations during the difficult re-adjustment period.

It means money to pay the rent or meet mortgage payments.

It means funds for the education of children until they are old enough to support themselves.

It means rearing your family in self-respect, free from the humiliation of private charity or public relief.

It means contented retirement for the business woman when she is no longer able to work.

Every working day, Life Insurance disburses $500,000 to Canadian homes. Every day, it helps to keep homes together and families united.

No wonder that Canadian women appreciate the value of Life Insurance, and are grateful to their loved ones whose far-sighted thrift has made possible such vital financial security for themselves and their children.

Power On The Farm

No industry under the sun has greater, more numerous and more varied problems besetting it than the agriculture. Nowhere, perhaps, are the problems more difficult of solution than in Western Canada, because of the immense range of the country and wide variation in seasonal and soil conditions and by no means least of these problems is the power question for the farm.

A few years ago the introduction and popularization of large scale power machinery for farm use on the prairies, gave rise to a highly controversial topic usually designated, "The Horse versus the Tractor." Many farmers aligned themselves in one of two camps, those who favored horses as the motive power on the farm and those who regarded the tractor as the one and only form of power worth while for field operations.

The controversy at times became tinged with bitterness and threatened to become an open feud. Cudgels—verbal ones, of course, were wielded with great vigor and even governments, university authorities and editors of farm papers were accused of trucking to the one side or the other. For some years it looked as though the advocates of power machinery were in the ascendancy and it was even freely predicted that the time was not far off when the horse would be as extinct as the prehistoric dodo, save perhaps for a few specimens that would be preserved in zoological gardens for the benefit of the curious and the student of natural history.

After awhile the question appeared to lose interest as a public controversial issue within the agricultural domain. The bitterness gradually disappeared and discussion assumed a more moderate complexion. Reason, which appeared to be lurking on her throne whenever the issue was raised, re-assumed her place, partly because, like most other things, it gradually dawned on the general consciousness that there were two ideas to the question and that neither one nor the other was wholly right or entirely wrong. Changing conditions also, which have a habit of occurring in a non-stable state, revealed that what might be true under certain conditions at a given time is not appropriate under the same, or other conditions, at some other time. In agriculture, as in most other spheres there is no law of the Medes and Persians.

And at this juncture, it might not be inappropriate to remark that this is precisely the reason why farming is a hazardous enterprise and requires, in addition to a leaning of luck, a considerable amount of energy, ability and good judgment, to ensure a sporting chance of success.

But to "return to our mittens," it must be generally recognized today that both the horse and the tractor have their place in the agricultural scheme in the prairie provinces and both are likely to have a useful purpose to serve for many years to come.

This has been emphasized by A. E. Hardy, Professor of Agricultural Engineering of the University of Saskatchewan, acknowledged as one of the foremost authorities in the west on the subject, in a series of lectures to farmers.

Professor Hardy pointed out that under certain soil conditions results which are impossible with horses can be achieved by power driven machinery and vice versa. He also pointed out that in some sections of the country where soil and other conditions are different farmers would find it almost impossible to carry on with horses at the present time.

There are other considerations which must necessarily be a guide to the farmer in determining what type of power is best suited to his particular purposes and these include his own economic circumstances, and his own individual farmers and even some sections of the country where a combination of the two forms of power may yield the best results.

Then, too, the aptitude of the individual farmer and the type of help he is able to secure is an important consideration. There are men who can get much better results from a team of horses than it would be possible for them to do with a tractor while, on the contrary, farmers with a mechanical turn of mind, under the same conditions, are able to achieve much more with a tractor than with horse power and with greater economy.

Likewise, there are many farmers who could not get results with power machinery, whose small farms have very little liking for livestock but can achieve wonders with power machinery.

So that the question of the type of power to use on the farm is one which can only be solved satisfactorily by the individual farmer, taking into consideration the class of soil and the nature of the topography of his land, the size of his holdings, his own economic circumstances and his own aptitude, pre-dispositions and prejudices as well as those of the nature of help available.

In this respect the problem is like that of many others which have been or are the subject of heated controversy. The answer does not lie in an dogmatic ruling but in the circumstances, operating conditions and aptitude of the individual.

New Style Locomotive

Is Designed To Compete With Diesel-Electrics

Borrowing an idea from Barney Oldfield's steam racing car of 1908, a new railroad steam locomotive, designed to compete with the Diesel-electrics running the new streamlined express was announced at the annual meeting of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

The new engine is steam-electric—named the "Steamotive." Its steam runs an electric turbine so electricity drives the wheels.

Oldfield's engine made quick, hot "flush" steam by expelling a big area of heating pipes to fire. The new steamotive does the same. It is a midge with giant steam power. It carries a quarter mile of steam pipes all in a space the size of two office desks.

This double-deck area encloses the entire steam and heating plant. An old burner furnishes heat.

Two of these locomotives are now under construction. The announcement said their horsepower will be 2,500 each.

This rates the newest "baby" of steam power at its birth on a par with the best done so far in Diesel-electric energy. It is still a long way under the most powerful of all engines, the steam coal engine of 6,000 horsepower. It is under the 5,000 horsepower of electric locomotives which take their "juice" from wire or third rail.

But the engineering society's announcement states the midge, by being enlarged, can be made in feasible sizes of 30,000 horsepower per boiler.

Diesel-electrics at present run from 600 to 1,000 horsepower per unit and are small enough so as many as four units have been hooked together on one locomotive.

The "Steamotive" engine's power comes mainly from the fact its steam is produced at pressures of 1,500 pounds a square inch. A square inch of this steam does the work of a lot of the lower pressure steam ordinarily used in locomotives.

The water is driven at high speed through the heating pipes in order to prevent the danger of explosions of the super-power steam.

Turkeys for British Market

Largest Shipments Will Be From The Prairie Provinces

Present prospects are that approaching 1,000,000 pounds of turkey will be exported from Canada to the British Isles in 1936 for Christmas, most of which will be from the three Prairie Provinces—Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

The first shipment of Canadian turkeys to the British market for the Christmas trade was made in 1932, when well over 1,000,000 pounds of chilled and frozen birds found ready buyers because of their recognized quality and quality. All of the turkeys exported from the Dominion are graded, packed and inspected according to Dominion Government standards.

Turkey raising has developed into a substantial industry in Canada in recent years. Of this year's export movement it is expected Manitoba will supply the largest percentage. The shipments for export go forward both chilled and frozen.

While the principal development in turkey raising in the past few years has been in Western Canada, the industry has been making considerable progress in Eastern Canada, particularly in Ontario and Quebec, where early hatching and rearing is carried on somewhat extensively. Most of the production, however, comes from farmers engaged in mixed farming who raise comparatively small flocks.

Foreign Capital In U.S.

Survey Indicates Foreign Holdings To Be Approximately Seven Billion Dollars

Publishing for the first time the details of foreign capital movements about which President Roosevelt recently expressed concern, the United States treasury disclosed a $2,281,650,000 net inflow of funds from abroad between Jan. 1, 1935, and last Sept. 30.

This influx, representing the excess of funds coming into the country from those going out, came from Great Britain, Switzerland, France, the Netherlands and Canada. Correlated with commerce department reports on capital movements, the treasury survey indicated foreign holdings in this country amounted $7,600,000,000—believed the highest in history—on Sept. 30.

Bill Voted Down

House Of Lords Rejects Measure To Permit Medical Men To Kill Incurable Patients

The house of lords voted down proposed legislation to permit medical men to kill patients suffering from agonizing incurable ailments.

Under the weight of opposition from such persons as Lord Dawson of Penn, the king's physician, and the Archbishop of Canterbury, the proposal was rejected by a vote of 35 to 14.

Despite present defeat, the bill's sponsor, Lord Ponsonby, predicted eventual passage of a revised measure to permit "euthanasia" (easy death).

"I am certain," he said, "that the time will come when parliament will have to regulate the matter and I am certain that a measure of this kind will be accepted some day."

If an effort the alliance between prelates of the Church of England and doctors will defeat me, but I think it is not the first time the priesthood and medical men have worked together."

In leading opposition to the bill, Lord Dawson said sentiment was growing that the act of dying should be made more gentle, but that doctors alone could determine whether patients desire for death was merited.

The Archbishop of Canterbury said "I cannot but think it is better to leave this difficult and delicate matter in the hands of the medical profession rather than to drag it into the open and regulate it by legal procedure."

"In this matter I would trust the judgment and honor of the medical profession," he added.

Viscount Fitzalan, a Roman Catholic, said "People of all creeds have as a whole accepted the tradition that the Almighty reserves to Himself alone the power to determine the moment when life shall become extinct."

Seats For Coronation

Large Number Of Applications For Seats To View The Procession

A large number of applications for seats from which to view the coronation procession in London next May have been received by Hon. Vincent Massey, Canadian high commissioner, and it has been decided to close the registration list for the high commissioner's disposal on Jan. 1. Announcement of this effect was made from the office of the prime minister.

Standards are being erected along the procession route by the United Kingdom government and certain sections have been allotted at cost to high commissioners of the various dominions. As it is expected the demand may exceed the supply it has been decided all applications for accommodations at the disposal of the Canadian high commissioner must be made before the end of the year.

It was further announced applications for these seats must be made in writing and must be accompanied by a check for $100,000,000 considered if made through an agency, institution, booking office or business firm.

Canada's wish to obtain reservations in the sections allocated to the Canadian high commissioner will apply direct to his secretary at Canada House in London.

The Canadian-American boundary at International Falls, Minnesota, is just an imaginary line to a band of beavers so customs officials are forced to tolerate their "unsupervised entry" into the United States.

Praise For British Navy

One Canadian Pays Tribute To Efficient Service Rendered

R. L. Cockfield, M.D., K.C., of the Hospital, Sherbrooke, South China, tells this story.

Just what the British navy means to Canadians who are temporarily away from home, the citizens here, may be gathered from the following recent experience of the winter, which typifies the attitude of the navy. One of our citizens wherever they may be found.

The child of my medical colleague, a Canadian also, was critically ill, and he felt the need of a consultant. Unfortunately, by the usual mode of travel, we are at least one day distant from him. Therefore, in this predicament, he boarded H.M.S. Robin, which happened to be anchored in the port, and stated his case to the Commanding Officer. The ship was steaming "out," down the river, and within six hours we were at the bedside of the patient.

And so, whenever at festive boards toasts are being made, there will always be a particular toast made by the navy. It is a tribute to a service which fully understands the meaning of the word service. And the toast will be "The British Navy."

Memorial To Young Airmen

Father Regard To Patriot

One of the heroes who came from the English war cemetery at Rouen, France, relates that a father has gone to Rouen, lengths to erect a memorial to the young airman, his son, who died battling in the sky during the World War. The monument is a heavy unpolished stone from Devonshire, England. It was placed on a bank, by the father from his village in Devon to the coast. A ship carried it to the French coast, and a large truck it up the river to Rouen. From there the father set out with his handcart again and pushed the stone all the way to the cemetery. The woman caretaker showed him the grave and he hauled the huge stone onto it. Then the stone in his heart burst, and he said to himself, "That is the last thing I can do for him."

The Voice Of Edison

Was Heard At Centennial Banquet Of Patent System

The American patent system, basic structure upon which are built factories which support Detroit and other cities, is 100 years old. The centennial was celebrated in all parts of the United States by historical and scientific museums and by banquets of patent attorneys. A dinner at Washington, with noted inventors, speaking capped the day's events. One of the speakers at the banquet was the man who made the greatest use of the patent office—Thomas Edison. The late inventor was heard through the medium of one of his own products—the phonograph.
